

British International
Studies Association

The World at the Door: When the Local and Everyday are International

Workshop Program

London School of Economics, Parish Hall 1.02, Friday 3rd November 2017

Introduction (9.30am – 10am)

Audrey Alejandro (Queen Mary University of London) and Eleanor Knott (London School of Economics)

Session 1: Roles and Status (10.00 am – 11.00 am)

Audrey Alejandro (Queen Mary University of London) The national and the international

Louise Perrodin (Université Paris Est) The construction of an informal refugee status for the Rohingyas in Malaysia thanks to intertwined international and local scales

Discussant: Jef Huysmans (Queen Mary University of London)

Coffee Break 11:00 am – 11.30 am

Session 2: Norms (11.30 am – 1.00pm)

Quentin Deforge (Paris-Dauphine University) Studying the emergence of a transnational expertise - Some arguments from the case of “Parliamentary development” for the combination of local and global field researches

Simca Simpson Lapp (Queen Mary University of London) Global Norms Knocking at the Front Door? Multi-level Qualitative Methodology for Studying the Implementation Domestic Workers’ Rights in Uruguay

and Argentina

Jan Wilkens (University of Hamburg), Contending Narrations of Legitimate Order: Advancing a
Maren Hofius (University of Hamburg), Antje Wiener (University of Hamburg) Structurationist Reading of Narratives

Discussant: Kirsten Ainley (London School of Economics)

Lunch: 1.00 pm – 2.00 pm

Session 3: Encounters and Relations (2.00 pm – 3.30 pm)

Emma Mc Cluskey (King's College London) Studying Emerging Sites of (In)security: Reflections from an Ethnography of Refugee Resettlement in Sweden

Florian Weigand (London School of Economics) and Sam Vincent (London School of Economics) Theorising the local turn in international intervention (or: how we tried to study an Afghan counterinsurgency programme)

Katarina Kušić (Aberystwyth University) Scaling Interventions: Beyond 'the international' and 'the local' in projects of Improvement

Discussant: Nicolas Lemay-Hebert (University of Birmingham)

Coffee Break: 3.30 pm – 4 pm

Session 4: Visuality, Performance and Representations (4 pm – 5 pm)

Damien Simonneau (Université Saint Louis Bruxelles) "We Need a Fence!" Assessing Global Border Militarization policies through Local Pro-fence Mobilizations in Israel and in Arizona (United States of America)

Jakub Záhora (Charles University, Prague) Eyes on the Ground: Visuality between the Local and the Global

Discussant: Katharine Millar (London School of Economics)

Concluding Remarks and Discussion (5 pm – 5.30 pm)

Drinks and Dinner from 5.30pm onwards

Drinks around LSE, Dinner at Sagar at 7.30pm (31 Catherine St, London WC2B 5JS)