MIBAS SUMMER SCHOOL OF SUSTAINABILITY

Universität Hamburg

DER FORSCHUNG | DER LEHRE | DER BILDUNG

UNIVERSITÄT HAMBURG

Attending the MIBAS Summer School of Sustainability means studying at the biggest research and education institution in Northern Germany. It hosts a total of 40,000 students at eight faculties and is situated in the beautiful city district Rotherbaum, only a few hundred meters away from the lake Alster and in close proximity to the city center.

The campus is equipped with various libraries, three dining halls, numerous cafés, a duck pond and other leisure facilities that invite students to relax in between and after lectures.

THE MIBAS

In the course of the Summer School of Sustainability, students will study three selected courses of the Master of International Business and Sustainability (MIBAS), offered as block seminars.

The MIBAS is a two-year, English-taught master's program designed to equip students with the extensive theoretical and practical knowledge necessary to master the challenges of sustainable and responsible management in business and society. The program introduces students to the ethical, ecological, social and political implications of corporate value creation processes, thus fostering a particular sense of responsibility among students aspiring to be leaders of the future.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL PROGRAM

The Courses

International CSR Reporting

In this module, Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) reporting is studied in the context of financing and accounting. Amongst others, it will be examined how information provided by the company is processed, which information is relevant for decision making and how investment professionals can meet stakeholders' reporting requirements.

Managing Integrity: Compliance and Responsibility

This course discusses the challenges organizations face when aiming at introducing compliance programs with the intention to make business more sustainable and integer. It will be held in cooperation with the Heumann group, one of the largest Coffee importing companies in Germany, and students will work on real life examples from Heumann.

Applied Business Ethics

This module focuses primarily on the relationship between theory and practice in business ethics. Students will acquire knowledge of theoretical concepts of business ethics (e.g. Shared Value and Political CSR) that will then be applied to practices of international companies. Students are required to write a paper and give a presentation to earn credit points.

Good to Know

Students from abroad are required to pay the semester contribution of 310 €.

The good news is that the contribution covers the semester public transport pass that allows students to use all public transportation in Greater Hamburg.
