

The chair "International Macroeconomics and Financial Markets" at the Faculty of Business, Economics and Social Sciences, Department of Socioeconomics, at the University of Hamburg invites applications for the following position, to be filled as of 01.10.2024,

Student Research Assistant ("studentische" or "wissenschaftliche Hilfskraft") for 5-7 hours per week for at least six months (with the option to prolong the contract). The work can be done remotely, hence, physical presence in Hamburg is not required.

We do research and teaching in macroeconomics, with a focus on the role of financial markets in the (international) transmission of shocks and the optimal design of different central bank policies. In large parts, the research is of theoretical nature, developing and employing so-called Dynamic Stochastic General Equilibrium (DSGE) Models. Furthermore, modern econometric methods are employed, such as Local Projections, to confront the model with data.

Tasks¹:

- Support in updating the lecture "Macroeconomics"
- Support in preparing a new lecture concerned with topics in (international) macro-finance
- Updating the chair's homepage
- Assistance in different research projects, e.g., searching scientific literature, supporting the documentation of research outcome

Requirements:

- Student of Socioeconomics or Economics (Bachelor/Master)
- Good knowledge of the subject of macroeconomics, ideally also of international macroeconomics and/or monetary economics
- Good language skills in English and German
- Latex, Stata, Matlab skills are beneficial

Please send your application, consisting of the usual documents (letter, CV, grades, certificates), per Mail, preferably in one PDF document until 19.08.2024 to johanna.krenz@uni-hamburg.de.

Please contact Johanna Krenz if you have any questions regarding the position or the application.

¹ Depending on the qualification. List is not complete. Focal points could change throughout the employment.