

Out Of The Dark presents

Neo-Nazism in the US & the Presidential Election

with Spencer Sunshine

29.05.2024, 18:00

Universität Hamburg, VMP9 Raum S30

First emerging a century ago, National Socialism has become a fixture of the political landscape of the United States. As neo-Nazism has been reinterpreted in different national contexts, in the United States it established itself as the most extreme end of the White Supremacist movement. This talk will give an overview of the movement, including its terrorist past and present, and will address the larger question of Far Right political violence as the U.S. presidential election approaches.

Spencer Sunshine has been researching the U.S. Far Right for twenty years. He holds a PhD in Sociology and is the author of Neo-Nazi Terrorism and Counter-cultural Fascism: The Origins and Afterlife of James Mason's Siege (Routledge 2024).

Out of the Dark is co-hosted by Christine Hentschel, Susanne Krasmann, Nina Perkowski & Nils Schuhmacher. This event is organized by Chris Hammermann.

Universität Hamburg

DER FORSCHUNG | DER LEHRE | DER BILDUNG